

PRODUCTION PROCESS OF BRANCHED FATTY ACID BY MEANS OF GENETICALLY MODIFIED PLANTS

ABSTRACT

- 5 The invention relates to plant cells comprising a recombinant nucleic acid coding for a product which induces or stimulates the synthesis of branched fatty acids in said cells. It also relates to a production process for branched fatty acids using these plant cells or plants containing it.